

Mission Statement

We at PCHC believe that God has called parents to be the primary nurturers and teachers of their children. Since He has given His people all things pertaining to life and godliness, they need not feel inadequate or fear failure in educating their children. We are able to rest in knowing that in all things we are more than conquerors through Him who loves us, and this includes the education of our children. Parents must stand firm in knowing that He who began a good work in us will be faithful to complete it.

As we acknowledge the fact that God is in complete control, we must, therefore, cast aside any form of pride and in sincere humility live out the convictions we have to home educate our children. However, we must never become self-righteous as to condemn those who have chosen to do otherwise (Philippians 2:1-4).

PCHC's mission is to encourage and assist parents in this calling through the unique individual contributions of each member.

Pike Christian Homeschool Connection

We exist to encourage, support, and build up a community of Christian homeschool families.
